

The image shows the interior of a restaurant named ELA RESTO BAR. The space is characterized by warm wood paneling on the walls and ceiling. In the foreground, there is a bar area with a row of orange upholstered bar stools on black metal stands. To the right, several dining tables are set with white tablecloths, glassware, and plates. Large windows in the background offer a view of the street outside, where a building with a sign that says 'ELA' is visible. The lighting is soft and ambient, with small pendant lights hanging from the ceiling.
